

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A JOB?

OR A PURPOSE?

As a multinational company tackling some of the most complex global challenges, DuPont offers a great degree of diversity and stimulation for those who are problem solvers at heart. We create careers for people who want to make a difference with science-powered solutions, created through collective ingenuity, inspiring exceptional careers.

COME BE PART OF A COMMUNITY OF SOLVERS.

For our Production Site in Luxembourg we are looking to recruit a

HVAC Engineer (m/f)

The Asset HVAC Reliability Engineer is a critical role to minimize risk of not achieving production objectives associated with under performance, improve efficiency of running for energy saving and optimize cost to maintain of all Plant Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning Assets (including refrigeration equipment, cooling towers and condensers). The primary focus being maintenance and operating strategies/improvement opportunities that maintain, restore, or improve the previously demonstrated capability of the assets.

Primary Responsibilities

Understand production process and HVAC equipment utilization to ensure alignment of production objectives (cost of manufacture, Maximum Demonstrated Rate (MDR), yield, etc.) and equipment capability

To apply and check Key Responsibilities and Qualifications: Please, visit our website www.dupont.com/careers/emea and apply online.

About DuPont:

Operating in approximately 90 countries, DuPont (www.dupont.com) offers a wide range of innovative products and services for markets including agriculture, nutrition, renewable energy, safety and protection electronics construction, and transportation. Founded in 1802, for more than 200 years, DuPont has brought world-class science and engineering to the global marketplace. Our market-driven innovation introduces thousands of new products and patent applications every year. Today, DuPont is working to solve the unprecedented challenges in food, energy and protection now facing the world.